FATAL ACCIDENT.—On Friday week as two girls were playing near the side of the river Calder, at Mirfield, one of them, a daughter of Mr. Jesso Hirst, grocer, accidentally fell in and was drowned. In consequence of the water in the river being swollen the body was not found until the following day.

MELANCHOLY OCCURRENCE.—On Tuesday last the wife of a labouring man named Cowdill, residing at Mirfield, came to her death in the following manner. The poor woman had been in a low state of mind for some time, and about five o'clock on the morning of Tuesday last she got up, leaving her husband and a little child in bed, and while in a state of delirium is supposed to have walked into the canal, which is only a short distance from the house. Her body was shortly afterwards observed by some men going to work floating on the water, but on its being taken out life was extinct.
