THE MIRFIELD MURDERS.

Before the rising of the Court this evening, Mr. BLISS made an application for the detention of Patrick Reid until the next Assizes, on the ground (as alleged in an affidavit filed in Court) that the deponent (whose name did not transpire) hoped and believed he could get some further material evidence, and that it was necessary for the ends of justice that the trials on the other indictments should be postponed to the next Assizes.

The JUDGE.—Very well. I will consider of it. You had better allow Mr. Sergeant Wilkins to see the affidavit.
