

THE MURDERS AT MIRFIELD.—The house at Mirfield, in which the horrid murder of three individuals was perpetrated on Wednesday week, full particulars of which were detailed in last week's Mercury, was visited by many thousands of persons last Sunday, and being the feast Sunday, the numbers were greatly augmented on that account. We understand that great numbers came from a considerable distance, and many out of Lancashire, and in order to satisfy this curiosity in the public mind, policemen were in attendance, and groups of about ten at once were admitted to see the scene of carnage and desolation.
