FATAL ACCIDENT. — On Wednesday evening, James Dawson, carrier, of Sheepridge, near Huddersfield, aged sixty-four years, met with an accident which caused his death. He had been drinking at the Three Horse Shoes Inn, Mirfield, in company with Younger Robinson, and when he left was not able to walk properly, and was lifted on to the top of his cart, which was laden with coals. On his way home he fell off the cart, and injured his head so severely that he died soon after he was conveyed home.
