

ASSAULT AND ROBBERY NEAR DEWSBURY. — Jas. Crosland, of Ravensthorpe, was on Friday last brought up before the magistrates at Dewsbury, charged with having assaulted Emily Sheard, the daughter of a labouring man, and further with stealing from her the sum of 9s. The offences were committed on the 6th instant at a lonely place between Heckmondwike and Mirfield, called the Devil's Foot-bridge. Failing in the assault, he took from her all the money she had in her possession, and went off in the direction of his home. He was committed for trial. The prisoner, who is married, is a coal miner.
