

THE COLLIERY ACCIDENT AT MIRFIELD.—
Yesterday the District Coroner held an inquest at Mirfield touching the death of Robert Fone (28), pit-sinker, in the employ of the Mirfield Coal Company. It was given in evidence that on Tuesday morning he and two other men were engaged in repairing the pumping apparatus in a new shaft, and by some means not ascertained a door from a brattice above fell, and striking Fone on the head, killed him. The jury returned a verdict of "Accidental death."
