

SUICIDES AT DEWSBURY.—Yesterday Mr. P. P. Maitland, Deputy-Coroner, held an inquest at the Traveller's Rest, Upper Hopton, relative to the death of David Sheard, labourer, aged 68, Upper Hopton. It appears that for some time he has suffered from bronchitis, and was low-spirited. On Sunday morning he got out of bed unknown to his wife, who, on discovering that he was gone, raised an alarm. His son Samuel found him in a draw-well opposite his house, and close by were his shawl and hat. Police-constable Humphreys was fetched, and the body taken out and conveyed home. The jury returned a verdict of "Suicide whilst temporarily insane."
